

WE

All your bases are belong to We.

We has a several meanings, I think it has a million of meanings but the ones that are familiar to me are we as a pronoun and the other we that I'm going to talk about.

We, who are we? It is very simple, it is me, you and the others that is we the total humanity leaving on this earth.

I think it is already time to think about it, ^{living} "we" because the rhythm that we are leading does not promise a good future for our children, with a population close to six billions individuals we have really to think about it, can we just imagine and think as John Lennon did, imagine one world that we can live in it, in prosperity and peace?

Our mother "nature" offers for us daily tons of food, all sort of resources, fresh air to breathe and all our need, and in change to be grateful we ^{ex} ~~distruct~~ [?] [⊗] ~~her~~, we are rude to her and we are killing her slowly. But one day we will regret it because of all what we cause ^{of} for her. One day will ^{come} ~~came~~ and she will take revenge ^{for} of all the ocean that we polluted, CFC that we produced, her childrens "Animals" that we exterminated ^{and}, lands that we damaged, it will be a judgement day that god will be the judge and "we", we will be the guilty killer, a trial without a lawyer because there is no evidence to hide, the crime is clear.
